

MEET THE 2026 SLATE OF NOMINEES

Matt Diver

Junior Warden, 2029

As an adult received into the Episcopal faith, Matt has been an active parishioner since 2016. He has served as Chair of the Finance Committee at Trinity Boston Connects, as a Eucharistic Minister and usher on Sunday, and on the Youth and Adult Formation Ministries. Matt lives in the South End with his wife Nicolle and two sons, Henry and Miles, both of whom were baptized at Trinity. Henry, Miles and Nicolle are faithful members of Trinity's choir. Matt is the co-founder of Galen / Atlantica, a health policy advisory firm focused on genetic medicine and pandemic preparedness.

Gaye Bok

Clerk, Class of 2029

Gaye Bok has been a member of Trinity Church for more than forty years and has attended regularly with her husband, Alex Bok, since the 1990s. Trinity has been an integral part of their family life: their children, Kenzie, Abigail, and Oliver, all participated in church school, youth group, confirmation, Trinity Choir, and mission trips. Gaye previously served on a Youth Ministry advisory committee and more recently has been active in the lector ministry. In 2021, Trinity was the site of a joyful family milestone when their daughter Abigail was married to Ned Downie. Gaye and Alex recently welcomed their first grandchild, Eleanor Joan Downie, into the family. Professionally, Gaye has spent three decades working at the intersection of service, healthcare, and innovation. She served for fifteen years on the board of Pine Street Inn, where she chaired the Governance Committee. More recently, she was a founding partner of Mass General Brigham's AI & Digital Innovation Venture Fund, where she helped build a portfolio of early-stage companies advancing care delivery. She has served on multiple company boards and brings experience across healthcare systems, emerging technologies, and mission-driven organizations.

Kathy Moon

Vestry, Class of 2029

Katharine (Kathy) H.S. Moon has attended Trinity Church since 1994 and was received as a member in December, 2000. She grew up in Korean immigrant churches of the United Methodist Church and became a youth leader and Sunday School teacher. She maintained active church participation during her undergraduate years at Smith College, serving the Chapel and being ordained as a deacon. Her faith journey as an adult and her love of music led her to Trinity Church, where she overcame her unfamiliarity with Episcopal/Anglican practices and then eagerly adopted them. Kathy is a member of the Choir and is part of the Prayer Ministry, which she recently co-led. She enjoys the good literature and fellowship of the Trinity Short Fiction on Faith group. She serves in the Trinity Neighbors ministry, which aims to assist and support refugees and new immigrants, and is a new member of the Pastoral Visitors ministry (as a Eucharistic visitor). She also is a lector and Eucharistic lay minister. Kathy is Professor emerita at Wellesley College, where she taught for thirty years in the Department of Political Science. She is the author of scholarly books and articles in U.S.-East Asia relations, East Asian politics and women-related issues. She was the inaugural holder of the Korea Studies Chair at The Brookings Institution and has appeared widely in international media on diverse topics related to the Koreas and East Asia. Kathy Moon is a board member of the U.S. National Committee on North Korea and was on the board of directors of Smith College. She lives in Cambridge with her husband Jeffrey Frankel, loves to garden, and is working on a novel about elder-care and family.

Peter Smiledge

Vestry, Class of 2029

Baptized and confirmed in the United Church of Christ, Peter began attending Trinity in 2007 and was received into the Episcopal Church in 2019. He regularly attends the 10 am service and frequently serves as an usher. A participant in the 2013 Trinity Disciples of Christ in Community (DOCC) program, he was a member of the Trinity Holy Land pilgrimage of 2017. He also completed the recent Trinity Camino de Santiago pilgrimage in Spain. A Trinity Church tour guide for 16 years, Peter has served on both the Art and Architecture and Building Committees and has led several Trinity tour guide training programs. Peter has served as a pastoral visitor since 2019.

Raised in South Hadley, Massachusetts, Peter attended the University of Connecticut at Storrs where he received BS and MS degrees in pharmaceutical sciences. He worked in healthcare information technology for more than 35 years with posts in the Philadelphia area, Columbus, Ohio, and Kansas City, Missouri. At his retirement he was a vice-president and general manager for Siemens (later Oracle) Healthcare. He and his wife Lynn moved back to New England in 1999 and lived in Andover for 10 years before moving to the Back Bay where they live now. They share a daughter and two granddaughters. In addition to leading tours, Lynn and Peter remain busy working as preservation consultants conducting surveys of historic properties in Southeastern Massachusetts and Cape Cod.

Katherine Hughes

Diocesan Convention Delegate, 2028

Katherine has many childhood memories as an Episcopalian, but one memory she treasures is her pride when she volunteered to be the first “girl” acolyte in her church in the mid-70’s, after she saw other girls acolyting when visiting the Episcopal cathedral in Nashville.

Katherine and her husband Ralph joined Trinity in 1999, prior to the birth of their daughter, Rebecca, all three active members of Trinity. Katherine taught Godly Play, founded a Girl Scout troop, led the Walk for Hunger team, and was part of the first cohort of volunteer psychotherapists for the Trinity Boston Counseling Center, now Trinity Boston Connects. She was the convenor of her weekly lay Bible study in 2015, and now also attends the Women’s Bible study as well. She has been an active participant and co-facilitator for Sacred Ground, a member of the Anne Bonnyman Symposium Planning Committee, and the Anti-Racism Team. She was fortunate to be a pilot member of the Tutu Travel Seminar in South Africa and had the joy of completing the 490-mile Camino Frances with the Trinity pilgrims this past spring. Katherine is a Trinity tour guide and usher and a member of the Prayer Ministry.

Katherine is a clinical social worker and attorney and began her career as a legal services attorney representing clients with family law cases involving domestic violence. She then worked for over 20 years as a clinical social worker advocating for the needs of youth and children as part of mental health clinics supporting the Massachusetts Juvenile Courts. She has been an independent consultant focusing on educating parents and caregivers about childhood trauma and has been a volunteer attorney at the DeNovo Center for Justice and Healing in Cambridge. She was a Peace Corps Volunteer in Kenya following graduation from Stanford, attended Keio University in Tokyo for Japanese language study, and earned an MSW/JD from the University of Connecticut.
